Pantychrist – s/t CD
For lack of a better word, this would be an art project comprised of Justin Bond (NYC drag performance diva), Bob Osterlag (SF-based electronics wizard), and Otomo Yoshihide (Tokyo’s premiere underground noise dj). To say the very least, this is BIZARRE. Imagine ranting, bitter spoken word fired forth via the most eerie, spine warping voice imaginable, backed by eclectic beats and enough bizarre, progressive sound/vocal effects to make Peter Murphy cringe. That would only be a fraction of the intensity here. To say this has made me radically rethink my use of the word “queer” is an understatement. Divine herself could do no better!
